Laminates

Faus will be showing off its latest technological advancements at Surfaces this year, and you can bet they'll wind up on a few popular licensees' products as well. Its new InterPlank Design is a combination of two planks that complete a single, continuous wood-grain strip utilizing a patented self-alignment system. Lastly, Faus is unveiling its new Microbevel product technology which allows for several strips of beveled laminate planks to be presented on a single board.
